純 真 高 等 学 校

次の英文を読んで、後の問いに答えなさい。

Tommy wasn't good at schoolwork. (1)Math made his head *spin, and words seemed to dance on the page. His friend, Jenny, *looked over and came to Tommy. "I got a gold star in *reading today!" she said *happily, showing her book. Tommy tried to smile, but his heart felt heavy. "That's great, Jenny," he replied softly.

One day, during break time, Jenny saw Tommy drawing on a piece of paper. He was making beautiful pictures. There were a big tree, colorful birds, and a bright sun in the sky. Jenny was amazed. "Tommy, your drawing is wonderful!" she said. Tommy looked up and smiled. "Thanks, Jenny. I love to draw. It's my way of telling stories." Jenny thought for a moment. "You know, Tommy, everyone is good at something. You are a *fantastic artist. Maybe you can help me with my drawing, and I can help you with reading." Tommy's eyes *lit up. "Really? Would you (2)do that for me?" "Of course!" Jenny replied. "Friends help each other." And so, every day after school, Tommy and Jenny spent time together. Tommy taught Jenny how to draw, and Jenny helped Tommy with his reading.

Months *passed, and Tommy's reading improved. One day, his teacher gave him a gold star. Tommy was so happy. He ran to Jenny and showed her. "Look! I got a gold star in reading today!" Jenny hugged him. "I knew you could do it!" she said.

From that day on, Tommy realized that everyone has their own *talent, and that with a little help, they can shine *brightly.
